Now this is the story all about how
Elizabeth II got her swagger down
We'd like to take 2 minutes just listen us, man
We'll tell you how she became the Queen of England

In City of London born and raised

And 1952 first time reigned and praised

Her father was the King, George the 6th

And the book of her majesty was written by S. B. Smith

Married to Charles, the Prince of Wales

Being the largest landowner and owning whales

Duke of Edinburgh is the son of the Queen

In almost every country she has been

From Buckingham Palace to London Eye
In Oxford Street she waves good bye
Rides double decker all day long
To honour her we wrote this song
Eats fish and chips every day for dinner
She is tattooed on Russell Brand's thigh, inner
She wakes up to the ring of Big Ben
And drinks her morning tea at ten

In 2012 was the party of the year

You missed it, what? Ou... for real?!

The Queen of England and her Diamond Jubilee

The whole country shouted AOWWEE

William, Kate and also Harry
They all must be proud of their granny
Sixty years she's been sitting on a throne
And still not having a diamond crown
Swagger jagger is the Queen
And she's the best one I've ever seen
She's got rhythm in her feet
And soon will be having golden teeth

She's the Defender of the Faith
And her fave' candy is After Eight
Everyday she asks a question:
“Can I have some tea, Margaret?”
It's a sign of a depression
Always wearing nice hats
In her palace there're no rats
The guardians are some serious dudes
Listen, the Queen must be hearing Muse

We wrote this rap to praise the Queen

To honour her we drink Jim Beam

We eat some chocolate, drink some tea

And have no diabetes
